Recently, the LANA Board reached out asking for input on what types of events our members would most like to participate in. As a direct result of that feedback, I am excited to announce a joint performance clinic and show that combines the two most requested event types!

The performance clinic will give insight into obstacles from the judge's perspective, cover tips and tricks to train for success, and hands-on practice with your animal. This event is a valuable opportunity for anyone interested in performance: new handlers, youth, experienced handlers with younger animals & really anyone looking to continue to learn and improve. In the afternoon we will have a fun, open performance only show where you can apply your new learnings.

I sincerely hope you will be able to come celebrate Spring by joining us for a fun day of performance with your lama(s)! See you there!!

- Stephanie & the LANA BOD

What to expect from the Clinic

AIMS

- Have fun!
- Practice with your animal in a new environment & on new obstacles, but without the stress and time limitation of a performance class
- Instant feedback from a critical eye on how to improve
- Insights into what a performance judge is looking for and specifics on how to get higher scores
- Tips and tricks on how to break down obstacles for training
- Creative ideas for how to train on a dime - without building an entire course at home

FORMAT

- Participants (you & your animal*) will be split up into small groups
- Obstacle stations will be setup with range of difficulties presented
- Your small group will rotate through the manned stations
- At each station your clinician will briefly talk about the obstacle & then participants will have hands-on time to practice & receive feedback
- Participants will also receive a packet containing the information covered in the clinic for note taking & future reference

* In order for things to flow smoothly, please plan to work with the same animal for each rotation of ~3 obstacles. In the morning meeting we will lay out the total number of rotations we will cover & which obstacles are included in each. Switching animals in between rotations should be perfectly fine.
